PHILOSOPHY

At Neil David, design transforms the everyday into the extraordinary. Our philosophy—unUSUAL USUAL—imbues the utilitarian with a design ethos, merging function with refinement.

We design products where the idea is, and stays, the centerpiece of the process from start to finish. Embracing the clean simplicity of geometric forms, letting them guide many of our designs. Construction isn't just a necessity—it's creatively built into the solution itself.

VALUES

We approach each design with the idea of using less and wisely. Recycling isn't an afterthought—it's part of the design. By using recyclable materials and easily replaceable parts, each piece lasts longer and wastes less. And at end of use, it's designed for easy deconstruction—ready to be recycled and reborn as something new, keeping materials in circulation and therefore reducing waste.

ANGLE SERIES

A minimalist masterpiece, the Angle redefines modern comfort. With its sharp geometric metal frame and precisely upholstered cushions, it creates a dynamic interplay of form and function. The oblique design offers bold visual impact with a surprisingly relaxed seating experience. Where form meets function, flawlessly.

Its playful feet lift it off the ground, creating a natural space to tuck away your laptop, papers, or magazines when not in use. 3D printed for both indoor and outdoor use, Charlie is designed to be reprinted into itself— or transformed into something entirely new— ensuring its story never truly ends.
